

NVQs in Spectator Safety and Management

What are NVQs – National Vocational Qualifications?

Who are these courses for?

This range of National Vocational Qualifications (NVQs) has been created for people who are employed, or volunteer, as event stewards or safety marshals at stadiums and arenas throughout the country. These qualifications will assist these people within their current roles and enable them to better prepare for future events. These programmes are of particular value to people working within areas such as:

- ♥ Sports grounds and stadiums
- ♥ Arenas
- ♥ Festivals
- ♥ Public events, such as carnivals or fete's
- ♥ Race tracks
- ♥ Exhibition centres
- ♥ Motor racing circuits

Who

Why

What

Level 2 NVQ in Spectator Control

This NVQ, designed for stewards, marshals and safety staff, provides them with the skills, knowledge and understanding they require whilst working in the match day and event stewarding industry. This course is recognised by the Football Association and other sporting bodies as the industry standard.

This qualification, which was developed in cooperation with major leading event organisers, consists of six mandatory units which examine various aspects of spectator event management, including how to:

- ♥ Prepare for spectator events
- ♥ Control the entry, exit and movement of people at spectator events
- ♥ Monitor spectators and deal with crowd problems
- ♥ Help to manage conflict
- ♥ Contribute to the work of your team
- ♥ Deal with accidents and emergencies

NVQs are work-related, competence-based qualifications that reflect the skills and knowledge needed to do a job effectively, and show that a candidate is competent in the area of work the NVQ represents.

They cover all the main aspects of an occupation, including current best practice, the ability to adapt to future requirements and the knowledge and understanding that underpin competent performance.

Who are City and Guilds?

City & Guilds are one of the most recognised awarding bodies within the UK.

City & Guilds is the only awarding body solely dedicated to vocational learning, and they award over 50% of all NVQs. They offer over 500 qualifications in 28 industry areas, through over 8500 centres in more than 100 countries worldwide. This enables candidates to learn skills that equip them to fulfil their career ambitions or enrich their leisure time.

City & Guilds qualifications are valued by employers because they're developed in conjunction with key industry bodies – so they're always relevant and up to date.

Rutherford Training Consultants
Rutherford House, Chapel Lane,
Wadebridge, Cornwall PL27 7NJ
phone: 01208 816709
fax: 01208 895034
web: <http://www.rtc-training.co.uk>

Level 3 in NVQ in Spectator Safety

This qualification is aimed at team leaders, senior stewards and head marshals and is designed to assess their skills and competence at spectator events in a more in-depth and stringent manner.

The programme has been created to build upon their prior knowledge and qualifications. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate a high level of proficiency in preparing both stewards and their venue for spectator events. The programme also examines their ability to develop working relationships with colleagues and concerned parties, as well as how to respond and deal with spectator problems and emergencies.

Training analysis

Design

Training

Certification

Evaluation

Level 4 NVQ in Spectator Safety Management

The Level 4 NVQ has been created to assess the competence of stadium and arena managers and safety officers.

Candidates are expected to demonstrate ability, planning for and ensuring the safety of people at an event, managing resources and developing implementing policies.

Career progression routes

The City and Guilds qualification structure offers a clear knowledge and career progression path for candidates within the spectator safety sector.

The Level 2 NVQ is an ideal award for candidates starting in the spectator safety industry, before moving onto a more supervisory role at Level 3. The Level 4 is suitable for safety officers and managers.

Funding support available

Due to our partnerships and working links with a nationwide consortium of further education centres, colleges and training providers, it is possible to source funding for various qualifications. It may be possible that you can qualify for funding assistance towards the cost of your training. Please contact us for further details.

Will I get a certificate if pass the course?

Yes. Once a candidate has successfully completed their portfolio and met the required performance standards in their work based assessments they will receive a City and Guilds accredited certificate.

How do I reserve a place on a course?

To request further information or to enquire undertaking one of our spectator safety programmes please contact us at RTC on 01208 816709, or by email enquiries@rtc-training.co.uk